Introduction

Municipalities are required to provide emergency ambulance transport services to its citizens either by providing the service themselves, contracting out for the service to other towns, private carriers, or volunteer carriers. There are basically four types of ambulance service:

Municipal ambulance service

This is a publicly funded ambulance service operated by a town department. There are two types: one operated by the fire department and an ambulance department totally separate from the fire department.

Fire Department ambulance service

For some fire departments, the ambulance service must pay for itself (expenses must match revenue) and is essentially funded through patient receipts. In other words, it is a free service to the participating towns. This is how at least one town operates and can do so because its firefighters are not full-time. So, this model likely does not work if using full-time personnel.

For the majority of the fire departments, the ambulance budget does not reflect the true costs of operating the service due to its tight integration with the fire department. The patient is expected to pay when using this service and steps are taken to insure payment from the patient. For some fire departments, though, the focus is on providing the service and while the patient is billed, no attempts are made to collect.

Estimating Ambulance Service Costs

For towns that don't break out the cost of their ambulance and fire services separately due to having cross-trained personnel, how can one estimate the cost of the ambulance service? A generally accepted costing model on how to estimate the cost of EMS services for such a fire department has the following formula:

- A. Personnel Costs = average on-call time x average hourly labor rate x average number of personnel on the call x number of incidents prior year. (Hourly rate includes benefits)
- B. Vehicle = (Operating cost per mile x annual call miles) + annual cost for ambulance replacement.
- C. Supplies = Actual Cost of Medical Supplies per year + costs of billing service.
- D. Indirect Costs = 25% (A+B+C). 25% is used as a factor to address other benefits and training costs.

Several fire departments use this formula in determining the fee to charge towns contracting for ambulance service. There is some merit to taking the formula in part A and multiplying it by the number of shifts but that is no considered part of the formula at this time.

Volunteer ambulance service

A volunteer ambulance service may be community or privately owned but are usually organized as non-profit organizations. There may be some paid personnel but it is mostly a volunteer organization. They rely on patient receipts and/or contracts with the towns to pay for the service.

Just as volunteer fire departments have experienced significant decreases in volunteers, volunteer ambulance services have had similar experiences. The NY Times ran an article "Sounding the Siren for Volunteer Drivers" in October 2001 indicating that the lack of volunteers is due to (1) significant training time; (2) yearly recertification; (3) fewer employers being willing to let employees leave; and (4) increases in call volume requiring more time commitments. As a result, many volunteer ambulance service providers are starting to hire daytime personnel as this is considered to be the time period of greatest need.

As one will see, there are quite a few non-profit ambulance providers. They rely on volunteers who put in hundreds of hours to get certified and retraining. When they respond to a call, they may receive a small stipend. It is clear that these volunteers do not do what they do for money but have a passion for providing this service to their community.

Hospital-based ambulance service

This is a private ambulance service funded by a local hospital.

Private ambulance service

A private ambulance service is usually a for-profit company with paid employees that contract with various towns to provide emergency and/or non-emergency services. They rely on patient receipts and the town contracts to pay for the service. In some cases, if the call volume is high enough, the towns do not have to pay for the ambulance service but give rights to the ambulance company to service the town.

The following table shows the number of emergency ambulance transport providers in each New England State and what percentage of that total fall in the listed categories just discussed.

State	BLS/ILS Providers	Fire Dept	Muni Dept	Non-Profit	Hosp	Priv - Comm
Connecticut	150	41%	2%	51%	1%	5%
Maine	139	45%	19%	22%	7%	6%
Massachusetts	254	77%	9%	5%	1%	8%
New Hampshire	129	66%	10%	12%	2%	10%
Rhode Island	47	77%	8%	15%	0%	0%
Vermont	77	25%	17%	53%	0%	4%

Knowing what percentage of emergency ambulance transport providers are fire department based, non-profit, hospital-based, commercial, or municipal-based, it might be interesting to see what percentage of towns is serviced by emergency ambulance transport providers in each State.

State	Fire Dept	Muni Dept	Non-Profit	Hosp	Priv - Comm
Connecticut	33%	2%	47%	1%	17%
Maine	28%	14%	24%	22%	12%
Massachusetts	60%	8%	9%	3%	20%
New Hampshire	53%	12%	12%	4%	18%
Rhode Island	74%	10%	18%	0%	0%
Vermont	21%	10%	64%	0%	5%

Due to rounding the total percentages may be slightly below or above 100%. Please note that the above table does not take into consideration the ambulance services providing paramedic intercepts. It only reflects those ambulance service providers with emergency ambulance transport contracts with the municipalities in the New England States. For example, hospitals provide almost 25% of the paramedic services in the State.

You can see from the tables that in Maine, 8% of emergency ambulance transport services are provided by hospitals yet they cover 26% of the towns. This would grow even more if the unincorporated areas were included. Similarly, 58% of emergency ambulance transport services are provided by non-profit ambulance companies yet they cover 71% of the towns in Vermont. For Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, and New Hampshire, commercial ambulance companies provide a small percentage of emergency ambulance transport services but cover many more towns.

There are five service levels of care: First responders, EMT-Basic, EMT-Intermediate, EMT-Paramedic, and EMT-Cardiac. Not all New England states recognize all five levels (i.e., EMT-c is only defined in Rhode Island) and first responders have different definitions in each state (EFR in Massachusetts, MRT in Connecticut, ECA in Vermont). To respond to a BLS call, the responder must have at least one person at the EMT-Basic level. However, in order to provide transport, the ambulance must be staffed with a minimum of two EMTs.

Ambulance service providers may provide a BLS Ambulance and/or an ALS ambulance. There are generally two levels for ALS services: intermediate ALS care and paramedic ALS care. Hereafter, ALS-paramedic will be referred to as ALS and ALS-intermediate will be ILS. The EMT staffing for BLS or ALS ambulances varies from state to state. Some towns and hospitals provide paramedic intercepts. This is a vehicle that brings an EMT-Paramedic to a non-paramedic ambulance.

Ambulance service providers contract with municipalities in a number of ways:

1. A subscription service in which residents pay a small yearly subscription fee. If the ambulance service is needed, the insurance company is billed and the resident is not responsible for anything not paid by the insurance company. If a resident chooses not to pay the subscription fee, the resident is billed for whatever the insurance company does not cover.
2. Some simply take their operating costs and divide it by the total population served. Each town is then assessed a fee by multiplying their population by the cost per resident.
3. Some take their operating costs and divide it by the total number of calls. Each town is then assessed a fee by multiplying their prior year call volume by the cost per call.
4. Some do not charge towns anything at all (i.e., Delta Ambulance) and rely on patient fees collected from the insurance companies.

Most ambulance services bill for services provided. Given the Medicare laws, this means that paramedic intercept services are barred from billing Medicare. To get around this, an ambulance company may bill Medicare to include the cost of the paramedic service but the payment is less than if it had billed Medicare patient directly. If the ambulance service does not bill for services then the paramedic intercept can bill Medicare directly. However, for private insurance, a bill can be submitted for both the emergency ambulance transport and the paramedic intercept.

Caveat Emptor

The information in this document came from various sources (town plans, town reports, town web sites, county emergency operations plans, ambulance provider web sites, ambulance provider officials) and the information was verified to the extent it was possible. While I tried to be as accurate as possible, there is the possibility for errors. Hopefully, if there are any errors, someone will be kind enough to point them out to me.

Ambulance Service Providers in Connecticut

In Connecticut, EMS services are coordinated through the State's Department of Health, Office of Emergency Medical Services. The Public Health Code section "Office of Emergency Medical Services" (19a-179) defines BLS and ALS staffing and ambulance transport.

Connecticut has four levels of staffing: Medical Response Technician (MRT), EMT-B, EMT-I, and EMT-P. For ambulance service, Connecticut recognizes three levels: BLS, ALS intermediate (ILS), and ALS paramedic. The state requires two (2) licensed personnel to be in a transporting ambulance at all times. The EMT staffing for BLS or ALS ambulances varies from county to county. For example, some counties within Connecticut only recognize BLS and paramedic ambulances.

BLS -> 2 licensed providers with one being an MRT and the other an EMT

ALS -> 2 licensed EMTs with at least one at EMT-I level or higher

ACLS -> 2 licensed EMTs with one at the EMT-P level and one at the EMT-B level

Each municipality in the State has a "primary service area responder" (PSAR) designated for first responder services (R1), BLS services (R2), and paramedic services (R5). To become a PSAR, an application is made to the Department of Public Health Office of Emergency Medical Services (DPH/OEMS) in cooperation with the town and the EMS provider. The chief elected official of the municipality must sign off on the PSAR assignment or the DPH/OEMS will not assign it. There are over 250 PSARs in the State at varying provider levels.

It was mentioned in the introduction that some services have experienced significant decreases in volunteers and as a result, many volunteer ambulance service providers are starting to hire daytime personnel. This staffing is provided through temporary agencies or by hiring an in-house person from a private firm.

- Danbury Hospital provides staffing to New Fairfield.
- Emergency Resource Management provides staffing to Granby, Haddam, Monroe, New Hartford, Seymour, Southbury, and Stony Hill.
- Vintech provides staffing to Canton, Coventry, Derby, Georgetown, Glastonbury, Harwinton, Litchfield, Morris, Mortlake Fire Company, New Milford, North Branford, North Canaan, Thomaston, and Winsted.
 - Woodstock ambulance has a paid ambulance crew from Vintech 6AM to 6PM during the weekday. The rest of the time, the ambulance is staffed by volunteers responding from their home.

This model is gaining popularity because the agency takes care of scheduling and training, and has its own insurance which is very appealing to a volunteer ambulance service provider.

There are no regional BLS ambulance services. Each municipality handles BLS service on their own. However, it is difficult for a small town to provide paramedic service on its own because it cannot provide enough on-the-job training for their skills to stay "fresh". Therefore, several towns have banded together to provide regional paramedic intercepts.

- Nuvance Health has been contracted to provide a paramedic intercept service to Barkhamsted, Colebrook, Goshen, Harwinton, Litchfield, New Hartford, Norfolk, Northfield, West Hartland, Winchester, and Winsted starting in 2023. This was previously contracted with Trinity Health.
- Housatonic Valley Paramedic Intercept Program has six towns (Bridgewater, Kent, Roxbury, Sherman, Warren, and Washington) in the New Milford area contracting with Nuvance Health based out of New Milford Hospital to provide a paramedic intercept starting in 2023. This was previously contracted with Trinity Health.
- Lawrence and Memorial Hospital provides a regional paramedic intercept service to the towns of East Lyme, Groton, Ledyard, New London, North Stonington, Stonington, and Waterford.

- Middlesex Hospital provides a regional paramedic intercept services to the towns of Colchester, East Haddam, East Hampton, Hebron, and Marlborough out of the Marlborough Medical Center; another regional paramedic service to the towns of Chester, Clinton, Deep River, Essex, Killingworth, Old Lyme, Old Saybrook, and Westbrook out of Shoreline Medical Center; and a regional paramedic intercept service to the towns of Cromwell, Durham, Middlefield, and Middletown out of Middlesex Hospital in Middletown.
- Northeastern Connecticut Council of Government contracts with K-B Ambulance to provide a 24/7 paramedic intercept service to the towns it services: Brooklyn, Eastford, Killingly, northern part of Plainfield, Pomfret, Putnam, Sterling, Thompson, and Woodstock through Day Kimball Hospital.
- Rockville Hospital provides a regional paramedic intercept service to the towns of Ellington, Tolland, and Vernon. The hospital contracts this service to AMR.
- UCONN fire department contracts with the towns of Avon, Canton, and Farmington to provide a regional paramedic intercept program.
- Valley EMS provides paramedic intercepts to Ansonia, Derby, Oxford, and Seymour.
- Windham Hospital provides a paramedic to the surrounding towns of Andover, Ashford, Chaplin, Columbia, Hampton, Hebron, Lebanon, Mansfield, Scotland, Willington, Windham, and part of Coventry and Franklin.

Other towns provide paramedic services by hiring in-house paramedics from hospitals or EMS agencies:

- Bethel and Redding have an in-house paramedic for their regional paramedic service from Danbury Hospital EMS with costs shared between Bethel and Redding but licensed through the police department. Newtown has hired an in-house paramedic from Danbury Hospital EMS.
- Bloomfield has an in-house paramedic from AMR.
- Brookfield has an in-house paramedic from Vintech.
- Burlington has an in-house paramedic from Bristol EMS.
- Naugatuck and Southbury have in-house paramedics from Trinity Health of New England EMS (formerly Campion Ambulance).
- New Canaan and Westport have an in-house paramedic from Norwalk Hospital. Wilton and Weston have created the Wilton-Weston ALS Association by which the two towns have funded an in-house paramedic to provide ALS services. This in-house paramedic was hired from Norwalk Hospital.

The State of Connecticut is divided into 13 Coordinated Medical Emergency Dispatch (CMED) centers, which establishes radio contact between the ambulance and the hospital. This allows the EMT to talk with emergency personnel at the hospital to coordinate care (somewhat similar to what we saw with the TV show “Emergency” back in the early 1970s). The various CMEDs are connected together using MEDNET (similar to a ham radio?) and this is used to coordinate emergency medical resources for Mass Casualty Incidents. The CMED Centers also operate a satellite network MEDSAT, which is coordinated through the Connecticut Department of Public Health. This system links all of the hospitals, ambulance transport, the State Office of Emergency Management, all the CMED centers, and the Department of Public Health together.

Most of the fire departments in Connecticut provide ambulance service at the basic life support level only. Hospitals and commercial carriers play a big role in providing paramedic services.

Ambulance Service Providers in Maine

In Maine, EMS services are coordinated through the State's Department of Public Safety, Bureau of Emergency Medical Services. The State's Revised Statutes Title 32, Chapter 2-B is the Maine Emergency Medical Services Act of 1982 and defines its emergency medical services system. The Maine Department of Public Safety has defined a set of rules "Maine Emergency Medical Services Rules" that defines BLS and ALS staffing and ambulance transport.

Maine has four levels of care: First Responder, EMT-Basic, EMT-Intermediate, and EMT-Paramedic. For ambulance service, Maine recognizes four levels: First responder, BLS, ALS intermediate (ILS), and ALS paramedic.

Maine is unique in that it allows ambulance services to license at one level but provide care at a higher level. This means that if an ambulance service is licensed at the paramedic level, then it must provide a Paramedic on every emergency call. I am told the reason Maine does this is to allow the smaller ambulance service providers or those with difficulty recruiting, to consistently provide a lower level of service and have the option, when staffing is available, to provide a higher level of care. However, the ambulance service provider can only offer care up to the level of the service they respond with, even if they hold a higher license level. However, if another ambulance service provides a higher level of care then a paramedic on the other ambulance service offering a lower level of care can work up to that higher level. Note that an ambulance service licensed at the paramedic level cannot provide care at a lower level. The level of care must be equal to the level of service it provides.

The state has no requirements as to the number of licensed personnel in a transporting ground ambulance. This appears to be something that is left up to each ambulance service provider.

Penobscot Valley Hospital requires the staff in the emergency department (RN's) to obtain their EMS license and advance to ALS level. Their maintenance staff is also required to obtain an EMT-Basic license. When a call comes in at the hospital, a nurse/EMT from the ED and maintenance EMT respond to the call. This model assures that their staff is working as they wait for a call. As a critical access hospital that bases reimbursement on cost based principles, this supports their ability to maintain the service.

It appears if one was to write on a map where each town gets its emergency ambulance service that regionalization is common in the interior and northern parts of Maine. The southern and coastal parts of Maine seem to try to do it on their own. As one goes further northern or inward, the population numbers are lower so regionalization makes sense. It is difficult for a small town to provide ambulance service on its own because it cannot provide enough on-the-job training for their skills to stay "fresh".

Hospitals play a bigger role in Maine than the other New England States as they service about 27% of the municipalities. These percentages do not change that significantly for paramedic services.

The following table summarizes the number of emergency ambulance providers by category and the number of towns covered.

State	# Providers	Towns Covered
Fire Department	70	137
Municipal Dept	22	63
Non-Profit	41	155
Hospital	10	107
Commercial	5	36
Total	148	498

Brewer has a unique arrangement with Meridian Mobile Health. Meridian Mobile Health buys the ambulances and is responsible for maintaining them. The primary ambulance is staffed with one Brewer firefighter and a paramedic from Capital Ambulance. Brewer hires the firefighters to staff the ambulance but is reimbursed by Meridian Mobile Health. In return, the hospital keeps 85% of the net revenue from ambulance fees. The secondary ambulance is staffed by Brewer firefighters and Brewer pays for the supplies. The net revenue is split

50-50 between Brewer and Capital Ambulance. Capital Ambulance provides all the medical training for Brewer while Brewer cross trains the Capital medics to hook up hydrants, set up and run fire ground rehab.

Corinth has a similar arrangement to that in Brewer in that the per diem firefighters and two of the full-time firefighter's salaries are paid for by Mayo Regional Hospital to staff their ambulance. In return, Mayo Regional Hospital does the billing and keeps all revenue.

Lincoln and East Millinock have a joint ambulance service where Lincoln firefighters serve as drivers of the ambulance and East Millinock provides the EMTs. East Millinocket pays Lincoln a fixed dollar amount per call.

There are many unorganized territories (townships) in Maine. The County will usually put out an RFP for ambulance providers to reply if they are interested. If a provider is awarded the contract, the ambulance provider will get a per capita stipend plus the insurance payment, if any, on the transport.

- There are several unorganized townships that have no ambulance service. In those townships, if an ambulance is needed, a Lifeflight helicopter will likely be dispatched. The State of Maine also has two Lifeflight Helicopters that cover the entire State. These are owned by Two Hospital Systems as a joint venture. The two hospital systems are Eastern Maine Healthcare and Central Maine Healthcare located in Bangor and Lewiston respectively. Eighty percent of their call volumes are interfacility from hospital to hospital within Maine and New England. Twenty percent are scene flights backing up ground ambulances for critical care.

Ambulance Service Providers in Massachusetts

In Massachusetts, EMS services are coordinated through the State's Office of Emergency Medical Services.

BLS and ALS staffing and ambulance transport are defined by the "105 CMR 170.000: Emergency Medical Services System" regulations. Massachusetts has four levels of staffing: EMS First Responder (EFR), EMT-B, EMT-I, and EMT-P. For ambulance service, Massachusetts has three levels: BLS, ALS intermediate, and ALS paramedic. The state requires two (2) licensed personnel to be in a transporting ambulance at all times

BLS -> 2 licensed providers with one being EMT-B

ALS intermediate -> 2 licensed EMTs with at least one at EMT-I level or higher

ALS paramedic -> 2 licensed EMTs with both at EMT-P level or one EMT-P and one EMT-I

Central Medical Emergency Direction (CMED) centers are regional communication centers that establish radio contact between the ambulance and the hospital. This allows the EMT to talk with emergency personnel at the hospital to coordinate care (somewhat similar to what we saw with the TV show "Emergency" back in the early 1970s). Massachusetts is divided into 5 EMS regions and each region is responsible for operating their own CMEDs. The various CMEDs are connected together through radio towers. It is not clear if all these systems can link all of the hospitals, ambulance transport, the State Office of Emergency Management, all the CMED centers, and the Department of Public Health together.

Ambulance Service Providers in New Hampshire

In New Hampshire, EMS services are coordinated through the State's Bureau of Emergency Medical Services. More information can be found at www.nh.gov/safety/divisions/fstems/ems.

New Hampshire has four levels of staffing: First Responder, EMT-B, EMT-I, EMT-P. For ambulance service, New Hampshire has two levels: BLS and ALS with each community deciding what EMT level is needed for ambulance staffing. However, the state requires two (2) licensed personnel to be in a transporting ambulance at all times.

- For BLS service, one of the licensed personnel has to be at least an EMT-B.
- For ALS intermediate, one of the licenses personnel has to be at least an EMT-I or higher.
- For ALS paramedic, one of the licensed personnel has to be at the EMT-P level.

The fire departments in Auburn, Candia, Claremont, Durham, Freedom, Holderness, Manchester, Milford, Nashua, Newton, Swanzey, and Warner provide a paramedic-level non-transport first responder service to its residents.

The fire departments in Allenstown, Chester, Danbury, Dublin, Francestown, Fremont, Gilsum, /Greenfield, Greenville, Harrisville, Jaffrey, Litchfield, Littleton, Mason, Moultonborough, New Castle, New Ipswich, New London, Newbury, Rindge, Sandwich, Somersworth, Springfield, Sunapee, Surry, Tuftonboro, Westmoreland, and Wolfeboro provide an intermediate-level non-transport first responder service to its residents

Several towns (Deerfield, Enfield, Fremont, Grantham, Lempster, Lisbon, Lyme, Mason, Monroe, Piermont, Rumney, Sandown, Shelburne, Springfield, Sutton, Tamworth, Temple, and Wilmot) have a rescue/first responder squad that may or may not be independent from the fire department. Some rescue squad numbers will cover other towns as well (i.e., Franconia which includes Sugar Hill and Easton).

- Wilton pays 55 percent of the ambulance budget while Lyndeborough pays 25 percent and Temple 20 percent.

Laconia has a unique arrangement with the local hospital. Laconia hires the firefighters to staff the ambulance but is reimbursed by the local hospital. The hospital buys the ambulances and is responsible for maintaining them. In return, the hospital does all the billing and keeps all the revenue from ambulance fees.

Ambulance Service Providers in Rhode Island

In Rhode Island, EMS services are coordinated through the State's Department of Health.

BLS and ALS staffing and ambulance transport are defined by the "Rules and Regulations Relating to Emergency Medical Services (R23-4.1-EMS)" regulations. Rhode Island has four levels of staffing: EMT-B, EMT-I, EMT-C, and EMT-P. For ambulance service, Rhode Island has three levels: BLS, ALS intermediate, and ALS paramedic. The state requires two (2) licensed personnel to be in a transporting ambulance at all times

BLS -> 2 licensed providers with one being EMT-B

ALS intermediate -> 2 licensed EMTs with at least one at EMT-C level or higher

ALS paramedic -> 2 licensed EMTs with both at EMT-P level or one EMT-P and one EMT-I

There are no commercial ambulance companies providing emergency ambulance service to any of the municipalities as emergency ambulance transports is mostly handled by fire departments.

Rhode Island has forty-three (43) fire districts of which 35 provide fire protection. Some fire districts provide their own ambulance service. For others, a town-wide service is provided. For the latter, just the town will be listed and in parenthesis is the number of fire districts in that town.

Ambulance Service Providers in Vermont

In Vermont, EMS services are coordinated through the State’s Department of Health, specifically the Office of EMS and Injury Prevention. Over a third of Vermont’s ambulance services respond to less than one call a day which makes maintaining skills difficult and requires a financial subsidy from covered communities (Vermont State Health Plan 2005 Part 4: Focus Areas).

Vermont has four levels of staffing: Emergency Care Attendant (ECA), EMT-B, EMT-I, EMT-P. For ambulance service, Vermont has three levels: BLS, ALS intermediate (ILS), and ALS paramedic. The state requires two (2) licensed personnel to be in a transporting ambulance at all times with the only requirement that one of the licensed providers be at least an EMT-B.

There are two types of emergency medical services in the EMS realm – a first responder service and an ambulance service.

- A first responder service provides emergency medical care at the scene but cannot provide emergency transport to a hospital. Given the time it may take for an ambulance to arrive on scene, first responder services are very prevalent (approximately 82) in Vermont. However, since they are not involved in emergency transport, they cannot bill patients for their services. Therefore, their town funds first responder services.
- An ambulance service provides emergency transport to a hospital. Over a third of Vermont’s ambulance services respond to less than one call a day which makes maintaining skills difficult and requires a financial subsidy from covered communities (Vermont State Health Plan 2005 Part 4: Focus Areas). Emergency ambulance transport is a billable service. Most towns contract out for emergency ambulance service although there are some towns that provide their own municipal emergency transport service.

Vermont is different from the rest of the New England States in that most towns use a volunteer, non-profit ambulance service. While some fire departments provide ambulance service, the number of such departments is small in number. The volunteer, non-profit ambulance services use a subscription service in which residents pay a small yearly subscription fee. If the ambulance service is needed, the insurance company is billed and the resident is not responsible for anything not paid by the insurance company. If a resident chooses not to pay the subscription fee, the resident is responsible for whatever the insurance company does not cover.

It was mentioned in the introduction about the difficulties in getting staffing. Last year, the Brighton Rescue Squad disbanded and the Montgomery Rescue Squad could no longer provide adequate response so Montgomery is now contracting with Richford Ambulance to provide emergency ambulance transport to its residents during the day.

Paramedic services are not currently available in Chittenden and Franklin Counties. While there are services in both counties, which have Paramedics on-board, they are only licensed to the intermediate level of care. There are several initiatives in place within each district to implement paramedic level care. For example, in Chittenden County, a committee is looking at a single source paramedic service, a hospital-based paramedic service, or a cooperative paramedic service. The hope is to make a decision this year and have a paramedic service in place by the end of 2008 or early 2009.

Ambulance service is also provided through mutual aid to other ambulance services. In fact, many of the paramedic services are handled through mutual aid. There are no specific mutual aid agreements but the services are coordinated through the State’s EMS regions.
